BIBLIOTHECA DORSETIENSIS.

A.298335

PREFACE.

THE present work is intended to serve as a contribution to Dorset Bibliography, and comprises a reference to those publications which have issued from the press upon the History and Topography of the County, on the Biography of its Natives, on the Social Life of its Inhabitants, and upon its Natural History. Every book or pamphlet mentioned, with hardly an exception, has been personally examined, and care has been taken to indicate the public library or private collection in which it may be found. It will be readily understood that this has been a matter of much patient labour, extending over a number of years. Public and Private Acts of Parliament relating to the county have been recorded, and it is hoped that this feature may render the work of service to professional men. Particulars of the Sale of Estates have been in many cases included, as these are often found to contain valuable topographical information. The collection has been made so far as possible complete, and although the writer does not claim to have exhausted all the stores of this department of county literature, yet he believes that few, if any, works of consequence have escaped his notice. He has not pretended to include works relating to the whole of England, and which would necessarily contain the county of Dorset, nor has he mentioned the articles occurring in magazines which have not been issued in a separate form. It must also be remembered that it has not fallen within the scope of the work to include any volumes of theological or general literature, and such have not been mentioned except in a few cases where they contained some valuable local or personal allusion, or appeared to be of some historical significance. The plan of the undertaking has been to give first of all the particulars of works relating to the county generally, classified under various heads, followed by those which relate to distinct parishes, arranged under their several names. On pages 271 to 279, and on page 291, are mentioned some works which were discovered too late to be placed in their proper position. The compilation of the list of Dorset Printers has been a work of great labour, entailing many visits to the towns of Dorset, and inquiries in various directions. Still, in some cases, the dates given must be considered only as approximate. Those persons who may wish to avail themselves of the useful genealogical particulars contained in Private Acts of Parliament will find a collection of these, in thirty-nine volumes, in the Library of the Guildhall of the City of London.

The writer returns his grateful thanks to those gentlemen who have assisted him in his undertaking, and whose names will be found subjoined. He will be glad at any time to receive notices of corrections and additions. It is his desire, at a future date, to prepare a companion to the present volume, to contain an account of the writings of natives and inhabitants of the county in the various paths of literature, and he will be happy to receive memoranda of their works, with biographical particulars of the authors.

Fifty large-paper copies (demy quarto) of the present work, and three hundred small-paper copies (foolscap quarto),—and no more,—have been printed, and these may be obtained on application to the writer, until the issue is exhausted. Prices, respectively, twenty-six and thirteen shillings.

LONG BURTON VICARAGE,

On 8th Feb. 1808, a Fire at the Printer's consumed the whole that was printed of the Third Volume (with the exception of a single copy preserved in the Library at Enfield), together with all that remained unsold of the two former volumes. Only 112 copies of these had been previously sold. The present Third and Fourth Volumes were reprinted "de novo." (Preface to the 3rd Edition.)

Copies of the 2nd Edition are sometimes made up by substituting the two vols. of the 1st Edition under altered titles, which occasions redundancy as well as deficiencies (Lowndes).

NEWSPAPERS.

SHERBORNE MERCURY.

"The Sherborne Mercury or Weekly Advertiser. Numb. 16. Tuesday, June 7. 1737. Price 2d." [Original title from a copy in the Bodleian Library.] Pp. 4. Demy folio. "Printed at Sherborne by W. Bettinson and G. Price from London."

The first number of this paper was issued on 21st Feb. 1736-7. On Monday, 30th Jan. 1749, the title was changed to "The Western Flying-Post or Sherborne and Yeovil Mercury," on account of the proprietor, H. Bettinson, and Robert Goadby, proprietor of "The Western Flying Post or Yeovil Mercury,"[1] having agreed to unite their papers. This issue is numbered Vol. I. No. I. On 23rd Sept., 1765, it became "The Western Flying Post or Sherborne and Yeovil Mercury and General Advertiser." On 21st June, 1819, "The Western Flying Post Sherborne and Yeovil Mercury, and General Advertiser for Dorset Somerset Devon and Cornwall."

This paper was always a single sheet of four pages, and was enlarged at intervals from demy folio until it reached to double that size on 12th March, 1810. Originally of three columns to a page, it contained four from 2nd Jan. 1764, five from 4th Feb. 1793, and six from 19th Feb. 1810. The price, at first 2*d.*, on 11th July, 1757, became 2½*d.*, when the stamp duty was increased to one penny; on 8th July, 1776, 3*d.*, in consequence of new duty; on 3rd Aug. 1789, 3½*d.*, in consequence of an additional halfpenny stamp duty; on 19th May, 1794, 4*d.*, in consequence of paper being dearer; on 10th July, 1797, 6*d.*, in consequence of stamp duty having risen to 3½*d.*; on 29th May, 1809, 6½*d.*; and on 4th Sept., 1815, 7*d.* (viz. Stamp Duty 4*d.*, paper and printing, 3*d.*). In 1838 the price was 4½*d.*

In 1739 advertisements were taken at 2*s.* 6*d.* each; and for the same charge in 1741, "if short, longer ones in proportion"; in 1779, if not exceeding twelve lines, 5*s.* 6*d.*, at which date there was a sixpenny duty on each advertisement.

"Advertisement. Sherborne, Feb. 19, 1737. On Monday, the 21st. of this Instant February will be Published (to be continued Weekly on Mondays) The Sherborne Mercury, or Weekly Advertiser : Containing the freshest Accounts of all Publick Transactions both at Home and Abroad ; Printed on a good Paper with new Types, Price 2d. As the Proprietors of this Paper have already settled a good Correspondence in London, in order to furnish the County with the best Intelligence, and purpose to use all other means to render this Work useful and entertaining ; they are persuaded that the Clergy, Gentry, Farmers, &c., of these parts will find this Undertaking worthy their Encouragement, as it will render News cheaper and more general, open an easy Communication with the adjacent Towns and Villages, by means of the News-Carriers, and give a Commodious Opportunity of conveying to a Multiplicity of Readers all Publick Notices that shall be advertised therein. Note, Any honest industrious Men, that will engage in the constant carrying out this News-paper, may find good Encouragement, by applying to the Printers thereof, at the Printing Office in Long Street, Sherborne."

In the issue for 10th Dec., 1753, it is mentioned that "this paper is circulated in Dorset, Somerset, Devon and Cornwall, in which no other paper is circulated, besides part of Wiltshire." On 23rd Sept., 1765, "The Sherborne Mercury (owing to increase in size) will be the largest paper in Great Britain or Ireland, and the Proprietor uses such expedition in circulating the paper that the Sherborne Mercury, with all the material news of the Saturday Evenings Papers in London, and that Nights Gazette, is circulated in all the populous towns leading to and in the City of Exeter above twelve hours before they can have the same news by mail from London, and beyond Exeter in the Towns leading to and in Plymouth near eighteen hours before the London Mail arrives, and in most of the principal Towns and Villages of Dorset, Somerset, Devon, Cornwall, and part of Wilts, before the post arrives."

The Sherborne Mercury, in conjunction with the Salisbury Journal and a Winchester Paper, maintained relays of mounted messengers to convey the London Gazette, as soon as printed, from London to their respective offices ; and by this means its contents were circulated by these papers in the South and West of England some considerable time before the ordinary mail with the Gazette arrived.

A File of this paper, commencing 1st January, 1739-40, Vol. III., No. 150, and ending Dec. 1826, is in the possession of E. Sloper, Esq., Taunton, and deposited in the Taunton Museum. One volume, containing four years (1760-63), is missing, besides some stray numbers in other volumes.

There was also published weekly An Appendix to the Sherborne Mercury, commencing apparently on 6th January, 1772, and the Mercury states on the 20th of that month, "It is with satisfaction we find our readers in general almost universally are pleased with a new plan we have formed for their entertainment, by our Appendix." On 16th Nov., 1772, the following note occurs, "It is delivered with our Mercury at the small additional expense of one halfpenny."

"An Appendix to the Sherborne Mercury: or the Weekly Magazine, For November 2, 1772." Fcp. fol., pp. 4, the pages numbered 173-6. [R. K.]

28th March, 1803. James Langdon, who bought out the other proprietors.

28th June, 1813. James Langdon and Son [Charles Langdon].

4th Oct., 1819. Charles Langdon and Jarvis Harker [junr., from Bath].

5th July, 1824. Jarvis Harker [junr.] and William Webb Penny. The latter purchased Langdon's share in June, 1824. Charles Langdon (B.A., Queen's Coll. Cantab. 1829), entered H. Orders, became Rector of Queen Camel, Somerset, 1832, and died 13th Dec., 1882, aged 93.

1828. Jarvis Harker [senr.] and William Webb Penny. J. H. junr. died at about this date, and J. H. senr., his father, for a short time held a share in the paper.

1829. William Webb Penny.

1842. Joseph Brittan. (Went to New Zealand in 1850.) With him was associated his brother, William Guise Brittan, but query, if as joint proprietor.

1850. John Noake Highmore purchased the paper and printed it at Yeovil, until it was incorporated in the "Yeovil Times," 8th July, 1851. The latter was subsequently united with the "Western Gazette."

SHERBORNE JOURNAL.

"Sherborne, Dorchester, & Taunton Journal, and Yeovil, Wells, and Bridgwater Gazette. Established, 1764. Vol. 115. No. 7148. Sherborne, Thursday, February 28, 1884. Price, Stamped 2½d., Unstamped 2d. Per Year, Stamped 11s. 6d. Unstamped 9s." [Present title.]

Size, Quadruple Medium quarto, pp. 8. Politics, Liberal. Published every Thursday. This paper was established in 1764 by William Cruttwell, in opposition to the Sherborne Mercury, then a Whig paper conducted by Robert Goadby, and was supported by the local influence of the Toogood family. The earliest copy in the office at Sherborne is the 20th number, thus entitled,—"Cruttwell's Sherborne Journal. Price Twopence Halfpenny. Friday, April 12, 1765. Number 20. Vol. I." At the bottom of the first page is the following notice,—"Sherborne: Printed by W. Cruttwell, in the Market-Place: Of whom may be had all Sorts of Bibles, Common-Prayers, Sealing-Wax, Wafers, and all Sorts of Stationary Ware. Printing in general performed in the neatest Manner, and on the shortest Notice. Advertisements for this Paper are taken in by Mr. Blythe, Bookseller, near the Royal Exchange, London; Mr. Pond in Weymouth, Mr. Fursman at Ashburton, Mr. King at Honiton, Mr. Wills at Crewkerne, Mr. Simmonds at Blandford, Mr. Woolridge at Shaftesbury, and by the Men who distribute it. Letters (Post paid) to the Printer will have due Attention paid to them."

A later number is entitled "The Sherborne Journal. Vol. IX. Thursday, July 8, 1773. No. 449.", but no price is mentioned. At a subsequent date a further alteration appears, and it is then called "The Dorchester and Sherborne Journal, And Western Advertiser. [Vol. XXX. No. 1603.] Friday, March 7, 1794. [Price Three-pence Halfpenny.]" It was "Printed by W. Cruttwell, Sherborne; and Published in Dorchester early every Friday Morning."

The regular File at the Office (which however is not complete) begins on 1st January, 1813, and the paper is then called "The Dorchester and Sherborne Journal, and West of England Advertiser. Vol. 48. No. 2589. Friday, January 1, 1813. [Price 6½d.] Printed by James Cruttwell in Sherborne, and Published in Dorchester, Taunton, and most Places in the Neighbourhood every Thursday afternoon."

On 22nd Nov., 1816, the word "Taunton" first appears in the title. On 17th Jan., 1817 (and probably the 3rd, but the first two numbers are missing), the word "General" is inserted before "Advertiser", and the Title now runs "The Dorchester, Sherborne, and Taunton Journal, and West of England General Advertiser. Printed and Published by James Cruttwell at his Printing Office, Sherborne. Friday, 17 January, 1817."

On 21st and 28th January, 1819, the name "S. L. Cruttwell" is substituted for "James Cruttwell," but on 4th Feb. it is omitted, and the title ends with the word "Advertiser." By this time also the paper is issued on Thursday. Between 2nd Aug., 1821, and 12th Jan., 1827 (during which time the file is wanting) the words, "West of England General Advertiser," were changed to "General Advertiser for the South & West of England"; and "Sherborne" placed before "Dorchester" in the title, and on 26th Aug., 1830, the paper first appears as "Sherborne, Dorchester, & Taunton Journal, and Wells, Bridgewater, and Tiverton Gazette." The latter part of this was changed on 10th Oct., 1861, to "Yeovil, Wells, and Bridgwater Gazette," and the title assumed its present form. The file in the British Museum extends from 1829 to 1884, and at about the former date the paper became the leading organ of the Whig party in the West of England, and strenuously advocated the reforms that followed.

The "Monday's Market Circular Edition," pp. 4, "Times size", Price One Penny, was first issued about the 4th Aug., 1862.

The size of the Journal in 1765 was pp. 4, Demy folio; in 1794, Super Royal folio; in 1813, Double Crown folio; in 1827, Double Demy folio; from Jan., 1835, to 24th Sept., 1846, Double Royal folio; and on 1st Oct., 1846, Double Super Royal folio. This size continued till May, 1860, on the 10th of which month it was enlarged to eight pages, having been previously four only.

Price in 1765, 2½*d.*; in 1794, 3½*d.*; in 1813, 6½*d.* On 1st Sept., 1815, it became 7*d.* (viz. Stamp Duty 4*d.*, paper and print 3*d.*), and so continued to 8th Sept., 1836. The next week the price was 4½*d.*, on account of the reduction of Stamp Duty, and continued at this figure till it was raised to 5*d.* on 1st Oct., 1846. In July, 1855, the price became 5*d.* stamped, and 4*d.* unstamped, and on 1st April, 1869, it first became, stamped 3*d.*, unstamped, 2*d.*

[Another Edition] . . . Being A Sermon Preach'd at a Wedding, At the Church at Sherbourn, Dorsetshire . . . By John Sprint, D.D. Nottingham: Printed and Sold by G. Burbage, in the Long-Row, 1762. 4°. Pp. 16. [L. H. R.]

"Be it known unto thee Reader, whosoever thou art, that I have not met with one Woman among all my Accusers, whose Husband is able to give her the Character of a dutiful and obedient Wife." Preface.

The statement, in the edition of 1762, that this sermon was preached "at the Church" at Sherborne is erroneous. John Sprint, who was ejected from Portland in 1662, was a Nonconformist minister successively at Wimborne, Stalbridge, Sturminster, and Milborne Port, and died in 1718. No wedding on the day in question is recorded in the register of Sherborne Abbey Church.
